Dear Barbara,

I wonder if you or another Auckland member could answer a couple of questions for us.

Our New Plymouth homebirth group is still struggling to centre itself, & a fresh start could be the recent licencing of a midwife, although there's no doctor supporting her as yet.

I imagine our group will be supplying her kit once she becomes active, & we need guidelines on this - she has been given a formidable list worth some hundreds of dollars - how much of this is required by law, & what do the Auckland midwives consider essential items?

Also, is there a medical supplies outlet we could get items such as cord-clamps from if we are unable to get them from the hospital?

Thanks for your time.

Regards,

Ipsid.
