Dear Sir/Madam,
N.Z. Home Birth Assn. Newsletter.

Under Section 64 of the Copyright Act 1962 as amended in 1971, publishers of New Zealand periodicals are required to forward three copies of each issue (unless otherwise specified) to the General Assembly Library on publication. However, while the General Assembly Library continues to administer Section 64 of the Act, an internal arrangement between that Library and ourselves provides for the Alexander Turnbull Library to assume responsibility for collecting and maintaining the primary national collection of New Zealand periodicals. In accordance with this policy you may recall a notification from the General Assembly Library requesting that only ONE/TWO copies of the publication noted above be sent there and asking for the third copy to be sent to the Alexander Turnbull Library at the above address.

According to our records, the Alexander Turnbull Library has not received the following issue(s) of your publication;

all issues since March 1979

We should be grateful if you would send us ONE copy of each of the missing issue(s). If you hold only file copies may we borrow these to make copies to complete our files? To ensure deposit please use the Library's address as given above.

Yours faithfully,

Periodicals Librarian.
