Dear Brenda,

Many apologies for the delay in sending you the artwork for the bumper stickers. Scott was really busy at work, but managed to get this finished before baby was born 10 weeks ago, so the fault is mine.

He also said he thinks you would be able to get them printed cheaper than he could, so will leave that up to you.

We both feel that the Home Birth badges need re-designing, so when the time arrives that the present stocks are exhausted, Scott would be happy to do the artwork for them if you would like them altered. Most other people have commented that the lettering in picture are indistinct.

We promise much speedier attention in future!

Regards,

Felicity Wilson.
