Dear Brenda,

for next newsletter.

hi, have written a report on our progress - hope you can read it - trying to get it done while my baby is asleep. We have a midwife keen to do homebirths! <sup>(1/2)</sup> Its really exciting... she is going to apply for a licence... can you let us know anything that may be a help to her... she would like some contact with another midwife or midwives who have been doing domicillary work as this is a bit new for her... apart from some births in England where she trained. also, does the health dept. provide a kit for her.

Would you be able to send me an information sheet for parents wanting a home delivery from the duckland group... I remember getting one when I had my first baby at home in duckland a couple of years ago, and thought it would be helpful as far as what parents should have for the birth etc.

We decided to join the national association as we really want to get newsletters from all the groups + keep in touch with the rest of the country.

Any information that would be of interest or help to Liz would be much appreciated.

Bye for now

sincerely

Carly Juad
